Road-running category

StreetWave is listed for running, with an engineered knit upper and foam midsole. Black and white are its catalog color options. The word Street does not reclassify it as a lifestyle model; use the published category when discussing its intended use.

Knit handling

Release the laces before removing the shoe, rather than stepping on the heel of the other shoe. Avoid tugging individual knit loops. The upper may flex during wear, but the guide does not promise that an initially tight size will stretch into a correct fit.

Local cleaning

Blot marks with a soft damp cloth and mild soap. Wipe off soap without flooding the upper. Do not machine wash, scrub with a stiff brush or wring out the knit. Air dry with the opening unobstructed and away from direct heat.

Published limits

The document has no measured rebound, shoe weight, heel drop or running-distance rating. Check physical condition and personal fit before use. A foam midsole is a construction fact, not evidence that this model cushions more than another shoe.
